Come Out And Play - Alumni Band Day 2001

By Juliette Bettencourt
clarinet '76

Alumni Band Day 2001, scheduled for September 8, has been declared the kickoff for the yearlong celebration commemorating the first Alumni Band Day in November 1952. After all, to do it right, it will take an entire year to celebrate 50 "ABDs"!

Officially recognizing a party opportunity, the CBAA has declared that the upcoming 50th Alumni Band Day should be celebrated in both 2001 and 2002 in order to give us enough time to recall all the lyrics to California Drinking Song...and all of the other Cal songs, of course!

Alumni Band Day's humble beginnings should make all Cal Band Alumni proud. The idea for ABD came to alums Herb Towler (percussion '41, SM & DM '43 & '44), Dave Wenrich (trumpet '41, Rep. at Large '48), and Dick Auslen (french horn '39, SM '46) in 1952, as they reminisced over cocktails about unforgettable moments in the Cal Band. Eager to share their memories with other former bandmen (yes, it WAS all male back then), they and their wives began making phone calls and plotting a strategy.

Three frantic weeks later, about 75 former members relived the thrill of performing in Memorial Stadium as the "Cal Alumni Band." Watching from the stands that day was fellow alumnus (and now Cal Band Director Emeritus) Bob Briggs. Having just returned to the area from Basic Training, he didn't hear about the event in time to perform, but he did get to visit with lots of his former band buddies.

Alumni Band Day has come a long way since Herb, Dave, Dick and their wives scrambled to make the first one happen. The event is now sponsored by the Cal Band Alumni Association, who pays for the food, drinks, and music from membership dues (so make sure you are all paid up!).

Alumni Band Day always draws alumni from across all years, but in this very special year, we'd like to make sure we have representation from every year from the 1930's through the graduating class of 2001. Among the past Cal Band performances and trips we will be celebrating are:

Brussels Tour - 1958
NCAA Championship Straw Hat Band - 1959
Rose Bowl - 1959
American Tour - 1965

Tellefsen Hall Seismic Retrofit Update By Sara LaBatt trombone '92

Tellefsen Hall, home to forty-four Cal Band members each year, is currently in the process of completing its second phase of seismic retrofitting to minimize the life safety risk for residents and neighbors.

Legislation enacted several years ago required that all unreinforced masonry (URM) buildings, such as the house, be seismically improved. Ever since, the Tellefsen Hall Board of Directors, along with student house leaders, has worked tirelessly to ensure the house's financial and structural stability while improving the living conditions of its residents.

In the summer of 1997, the first phase of the seismic retrofit was completed at a cost of about $350,000. This significantly strengthened the south wall of the house, with its large main floor windows, using a heavy steel moment frame with reinforced Shotcrete over the interior basement brick. By reconfiguring the west basement rooms, a practice room and storage space were added at little cost, along with a new high efficiency furnace. The collapsing and decaying wooden retaining wall in the parking lot was also replaced with a much stronger and durable concrete structure.

Since the completion of the first phase, the house leadership has been diligently planning for Phase II of the project, setting aside construction funds, seeking financing, completing engineering

Gerald (drums '89) and Liz (Zamora) Villegas (glock '89) are delighted to announce the arrival of their baby daughter Jolie Lisette Villegas. She was born on June 3, 2000, and weighed in at 8 lb., 6 oz. Despite Jolie's propensity for blowing raspberries and gnawing on her favorite stuffed black-and-white worm toy, her father insists that "it will be a cold day in hell (or a New Year's victory for Cal in the Rose Bowl) before she's ever allowed to play the clarinet." You can view a glimpse of the future percussion prodigy at http://www.geocities.com/tang_guitar

Tara Theismeyer (alto '88) writes, "After years of trying every industry from advertising to zoology (well, not really, but it sounded good), I have decided to become an elementary school teacher. I am currently a substitute teacher for the embattled Los Angeles Unified School District, which is not as bad as you've heard. I was also accepted to UCLA for the fall for their two-year, teacher education program, where I am getting get a credential and a Masters of Education. For some reason, people keep asking who I'm going to root for during football and basketball season. Silly question. Once a Golden Bear, always a Golden Bear!"

Wayne Blake (trombone '90) married Hyla Sweet in Sodus Point, New York on June 10, 2000. Phil Escamilla (trombone '89, SM '92) was the best man, and Larry Jacobson (trumpet '89), David Wakefield (alto '88), and Ken Molles (trombone '89) were also in attendance.

The NTE is saddened to report that Richard B. Coleman (baritone '54, SM '57) passed away on April 24, 1999. Mr. Coleman was a key member of the committee that planned the Brussels Tour in 1958.

Former band administrative assistant Margy Wilkinson writes, "A message from Spike (Dennis Cohen), alto '79, SM '82) reminded me that I had failed to let you all know that I recently became a grandma. Sofia Mari Wilkinson was born on June 12, 2000 at 4:30 a.m. in our house (Jason and his wife Rachel are living with us). She is of course completely lovely and totally perfect. She has lots of dark hair and is said to resemble me—she certainly looks like my kids! She was 19.5 inches, 7lbs 6oz at birth. We all adore her — Matty and Lila love being aunt and uncle. Tony and I are more than happy and love being grandparents. Best wishes to all!"

Richard (trombone '91, SM '95) and Trish (Spinks) Jenkins (mello '91) are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Kayla Isabel Jenkins on July 10, 2000. She was born 9 pounds, 13 ounces in weight and 22.5 inches in length.

April brought special joy to Jennie Van Heuit (picc '82). She gave birth to her first, Graham David Van Heuit, on April 17, 2000 (8 pounds 11 ounces, 21 1/2 inches), with the help of a great birthing team — Lisa Katzman (alto '81), Nancy Geimer (snare '81), and Nancy's partner, Chris Vance. Jennie writes, "Graham is already decked out in Cal paraphernalia, from hand-me-downs and gifts. No one's been silly enough to try to give him Stanford stuff." Jennie can be reached at eggplant@there.net.

Former Cal Band member William B. Brenner (clarinet '71) passed away on February 27, 2000.

Chris (bass '86) and Kristen (Keith) Hulett (picc '88) have been living in the Phoenix (damn, its hot!) area since 1993. Kristen finished her masters degree in structural engineering at Cal in 1993 and has several large projects right now. As an associate with Paragon Structural Engineers, she recently finished a building in China and the Heard Museum expansion in Phoenix. She is currently supervising a new High School being built in Gilbert, AZ. Chris finished his masters in Music Education at Illinois in 1994 and was the Director of Bands at Ironwood High School in Glendale, AZ until June, 2000. Chris has since gone back to school, this time at ASU, to pursue a Doctorate in Music Education with the hopes of teaching Music Education and directing a band at the college level. They can be reached at chulett@imap1.asu.edu.

Dan Cheatham (bass drum '54, DM '57) was a proud recipient of the 2000 Award for Excellence in Service award from the California Alumni Association. It was awarded on October 20, 2000 at the annual awards dinner for the CAA.

Major Doug Woodford (bass '82) and his wife Margie were spotted at a Cal home basketball game this past winter. They have since moved to Ramstein Air Base in Germany, where Doug is doing staff work and still flying the KC-135 in-flight refueler. "We're expecting our fourth boy, keeping up our tradition of one per assignment!"

Michael Bowman (trombone '83) writes: "I'm married (13 years to wife Liza) with two daughters – Alexandra (9) and Jessica (7). I work for Chanel Cosmetics as an account executive and live in Richmond View (right at the Richmond-El Cerrito border) in a quaint (small!) 61-year-old house. (continued on page 5)

Among the special past participants we will honor are Robert Gordon Sproul (Drum Major 1911), who was Alumni Band Day Drum Major in 1959, and Alumni Band Day founders Herb Towler, Dave Wenrich, and Dick Auslen for their brilliant inspiration.

From the morning donuts and coffee to turning in the last music sheets in the evening, Alumni Band Day refreshes the spirit, renews old friendships, reflects the continued ideal of performance excellence, and recalls several well known phrases regarding drums, senior managers, buckets, directors, opposing team players, Berkeley law enforcement, etc. If this yearlong tactic succeeds, we may extend the party until 2004, which will be the 50th year of the "Alumni Band Fanfare" and the "Golden Bear Fanfare", both written by Jonathon Elkus (StuD '52).

Make this your year to march and play at Alumni Band Day! The Performance Committee is hard at work already putting together a show that will do justice to commemorating the birth of ABD, but they can't put a truly great show on the field without plenty of alumni to perform it.

We welcome you to come out and be a part of this exciting day!

Date: September 8, 2001

Time: 8:00 A.M.

Location: Meet at the Band Rehearsal Hall in the basement of Cesar Chavez (formerly Golden Bear) center

Uniform: White shirt, blue hat, dark blue jeans or shorts

Dear Editor:

I really want to go to Alumni Band Day this year. but I'm worried about marching and playing at the same time. I haven't played my instrument in years, and my high step just isn't what it used to be! Sign me "OLD BLUE."

Dear "Old Blue": Don't worry about a thing! Even if you don't play a note or lift a foot 10 inches off the ground you can still enjoy Alumni Band Day. Just wear your white shirt, blue hat, and dark blue jeans or shorts and be sure to enter the stadium with the Alumni Band, and you can socialize with your friends, enjoy the game, and maybe even blow a few notes in the stands during timeouts!

From the Editor...

I hope this issue finds everyone preparing to attend the 50th Alumni Band Day on September 8! The planning committee has been working on this show since early spring, so it should be a really great occasion for band alumni of all ages and eras to come out and enjoy a great day of camaraderie and Cal Football. See you on the field!

Former Student Director Seeks Members for New Band

Larry Anderson (StuD '58) is starting a new community band in Danville, California. Anderson, who retired from a career as a music educator and band director, would like to invite former Cal Band members to join his new group.

"I would like to have Cal Band Alumni as members of the band," Anderson said. "We already have a good balanced group, but we especially need french horns, more tubas, some percussion, and a few clarinets."

Anderson hopes to attract musicians from every age group, from students to retirees. "We've ironed out all the details and we're set to go," he said. "We just need more musicians, all sections are still open!"

The band will rehearse once a week at San Ramon Valley High School in Danville, CA. The first rehearsal is Thursday, September 20, from 7:00 to 9:00 P.M.

Anyone interested in joining the band should call Larry Anderson at (925) 736-1673 or email him at banddirector@peoplepc.com

Spring Show in Napa a Big Hit

By Sara LaBatt
trombone '92

The Cal Band held its annual Spring Musical Revue on Saturday, April 28 in the Napa High School Gym in Napa, California. After some late scrambling for an appropriate venue, the show dazzled the enthusiastic wine country crowd.

Last year, the band had reserved the Berkeley Community Theater for this year's big show. A few months before the show was to happen, however, some hidden expenses popped up which would have made the cost of holding the show there far beyond the band's budget.

"This year there was sort of a scramble to find a place to hold Spring Show after the Berkeley Community Theater, which was the venue we originally selected, priced us significantly higher than their first quote to us," said PR-Comm member Jason Clark.

After casting about locally for another venue, the band reached out to their friends at Napa High School, where they had performed a halftime show for a 1992 football game. The school was eager to host the band again, and welcomed them back with open arms and a sizable gym for the performance. "We were very lucky that Napa High School offered us the use of their facilities," said Clark.

Before the show, the Napa High School Band Boosters held a silent auction in the gym as a fundraiser for the Napa Band. They auctioned off such items as stays in coastal Bed and Breakfasts, hot air balloon rides, and bottles of wine from local vineyards.

Following the silent auction, the main attraction got underway. The Napa High School Jazz Band opened the show with three big band classics, followed by the Cal Band Jazz Band with four charts of their own.

After the jazz bands, an act called "8 A.M. Lecture" gave the audience a window into the brain of a tired Cal student in an early morning lecture. This act had it all: Dancing pencils, sheep leaping over fences, even Superman (Superwoman, really) in shorts!

The next act was a six piece brass ensemble composed entirely of freshmen. Though young, their renditions of When I'm Sixty-Four (The Beatles), Largo from Xerxes (Handel) and the Theme from the Simpsons (Elfman) were truly impressive.

A funk-inspired dance routine to Janet Jackson's "IF" followed the brass ensemble. This was a perfect chance for Drum Major Will McNair to strut his stuff and build his confidence for his big Memorial Stadium performances this fall!

An ecstatic Jerry Miller

The next act, "Whose Instrument is it Anyway?" looked like a normal Straw Hat Band Performance at first. However, as they rocked their way through a Santana song, band members switched instruments and kept playing in an impressive display of multi-instrumental talent.

The act "Liquid Vision" was an interpretive dance in the dark with glowing gloves and glowsticks to a pulsating beat.

Following an intermission, the Cal Band Concert Band, directed by Bob Calonico, took the stage.

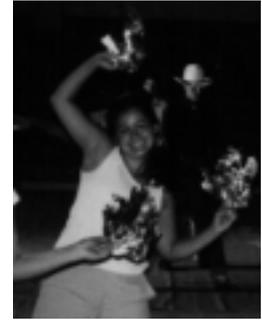

The band members participating showed their serious instrumental talent on two pieces: "On A Hymn song of Philip Bliss" by Holsinger, and "Vivace from Four Scottish Dances" by Arnold & Paynter. They were then joined by the Napa High School Concert Band for a rousing rendition of the "Florentiner March" by Fucik. The Napa High School Concert Band followed with a few pieces of their own.

The dance act "Rockerfeller Skank" showed a high school lunchroom gone amok to the tune of a hit Fat Boy Slim song. A session of improvisational comedy came next, as a brave group of band members used only their quick wit to keep the audience entertained.

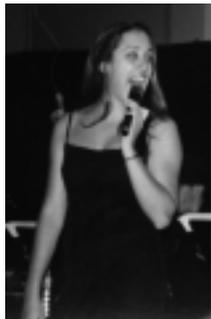

Next up was "Soul Man" with Scott Hunsperger and Aaron Alcalá-Mosley playing Jake and Elwood Blues, sunglasses in the dark and all.

The next act was a comic video about a group of five Cal Band members (who call themselves "N'Tune") and their die-hard commitment to Cal athletics through thick and thin.

Finally came the marching portion of the show. This year the band drew on recent hit music, marching to "The Launch" by DJ Jean, "Sexx Laws" by Beck, "The Way You Make Me Feel" by Michael Jackson, and "Let Me Go" by Cake. They closed the show with a marching rendition of "Cal Band March" by Jonathan Elkus.

We've been here 9 years now, and enjoy the neighborhood and close proximity to Cal. We have maintained season tickets to Cal Football games since I graduated, and we have attended dozens of basketball games as well. On a whim we decided to follow the Bears to Orlando and the Citrus Bowl in 1991. I'll never fly on January 2nd again! The game was excellent, but the trip home was horrible (weather delays, overbooked flights, etc.). It's a little harder to travel with the Bears with 2 little girls (and more expensive!), so we only attend home games and all Big Games now. This last May my company had a sales meeting in Palm Beach, so I flew a day early and visited Dennis "Spike" Cohen (alto '79, SM '82), his wife Malka, and their 5 boys (all under the age of 8!). While I enjoyed the visit tremendously, I also had a whole new experience: the world of boys. Spike and I were roommates at Tellefsen Hall during my first year at Cal and I remember looking up to him for advice because he was a sophomore. I still credit him for being such a positive influence on my life and we try to keep in touch as much as possible. I also credit the Cal Band for being such a positive influence, as I firmly believe my life was made much better by my experience in the band. This may sound cliché and rather corny, but I doubt if I would have stayed at Cal if it weren't for the band. And to think I almost quit during my first FTP. But that's another story..."

Ron Gordon (trumpet '55) is Dean of the School of Ceramic Engineering and Materials Science at Alfred University in upstate New York. His wife Joan is retired, and his progeny, 4 daughters and 1 son, are spread out all over the country: Mary is an attorney in Salt Lake City, UT; Edie is a Health Food Rep & Dancer, also in Salt Lake City; Sarah is a Recreational Therapist in Denver, CO; Kate is a Social Worker in Portland, MN; and Bill is an Accountant in Portland, OR.

Tracy Enneking Bondi (Tenor '79) writes: "I am working for an emergency physician billing company as the physician educator. I travel throughout California doing educational seminars for our 40 hospitals. It has been strange to sit at a desk and work on a computer after 13 years of working in critical care at the hospital. My daughter Dana is 10 years old now, in 6th grade. She enjoys tap dance & gymnastics. My son Bryce is 8 years old, in 3rd grade. He loves soccer and baseball. Bruce and I just finished laying 450 square feet of tile in our kitchen, dining room and living room. What a job!"

Ann M. Gonzales (piccolo '85) is still teaching music at Thurgood Marshall Academic High School in San Francisco. "This will be my 9th year teaching in the SFUSD! I am happy to say that I have one former student currently in the Cal Band!"

Jim McKinney (tenor '60) recently gave his 10th piano recital at Cal Poly (Pomona) last May as part of the school's Community Artist Series. He has been studying piano seriously since 1983, and performs regularly for Dr.

Alumni Band Welcomes 2001

By Jerry Taylor
glockenspiel '66

On the 4th of July, in Sausalito, the Alumni Band officially entered the new millennium with an assist from Stanley Kubrick. Of course, our Monolith was blue, not black, and it looked suspiciously like a giant beer can.

To the tune of "Also Sprach Zarathustra", our version of the "space baby" emerged from the top of the beer can: A teddy bear in a space helmet, with a Cal sweatshirt! Our forty-piece band sounded great on the 2001 signature piece with three sousaphones, and three bass drums.

The beautiful parade route along the bay was extended by brief stops at local establishments to entertain, and replenish our precious bodily fluids. After a short concert in the park, the City of Sausalito hosted our lunch.

The Band was directed by Chris Bailey (StuD '73) and managed by Jerry Taylor (SM '69). Bob Briggs followed the Band in his restored 1942 Cadillac. We are planning on doing this event again in 2002 - plan on being part of the fun!

For more information about the annual 4th of July Alumni Band performance, please contact Jerry Taylor at (415) 332-0225 or jerry.taylor6@gte.net

The Cal Alumni Band performs in Sausalito on July 4th

Philip Clarke's Piano Seminar at Cal Poly, as well as the occasional performance for the Cal Poly Athletic Department.

Laura Ackley (cymbals '88) was watching "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire" one recent night, and was surprised to see Dave Becker (trumpet '84, DM '87) sitting in the hot seat facing host Regis Philbin! Dave won $125,000 with such softball questions as "Who wrote Appalachian Spring?" "Now anyone to whom Dave owes money from college can give him a call!" says Laura!

Howard (snare '92) and Sarah (Ball) Kaplan (snare '91) are pleased to announce the arrival of their first child, Sofia Rose Kaplan. She was born on May 29th, 2001, weighing in at 9 lbs. Mom is going back to work while Dad is going to take some time off from teaching to raise Sofia.

A Letter of Thanks

Dear Cal Band Alumni and other Friends of the Cal Band,

Thanks so much for your generous support of the Cal Band throughout the year! It's always a thrill to open envelopes addressed to the Band and find your thoughtful contributions. Your ongoing support makes a difference and the entire Band appreciates every gift it receives. Some of the expenses that the Band continues to need help with are purchasing new instruments and repairing those that we have, as well as buying new uniforms and cleaning the ones we have more often.

You should be pleased to learn that $22,980 and $12,236, respectively, were raised from the NorCal and SoCal parties last year! It would be wonderful to expand the attendance at both NorCal and SoCal parties in 2001 and realize even more income for the Band. We will be lowering the NorCal ticket price for young alumni to $50 with hopes that more of you will join us for a great night. Please save Friday, September 7th for the NorCal event and Friday, October 19th for the SoCal event. If you can assist in making calls to increase attendance or would like to help on these events in other ways, please contact me!

Have a beautiful summer and Go Bears!

Sincerely,

Carol Suveda

and architectural drawings, contracting with construction firms, and obtaining all necessary permits and Landmark Preservation Commission approvals. This foresight yielded huge dividends when the City of Berkeley unexpectedly enacted legislation in late 2000 which might have closed down the house had the retrofitting not been planned for this summer.

Phase II of the retrofit includes reinforcing most interior and exterior first floor walls of the house, which are covered with clinker brick and old growth redwood paneling dating back to the house's original construction in 1898. Because of the building's status as a historical landmark, the bricks will be removed during the retrofit, cleaned, and reapplied as a veneer to the retrofitted walls to retain the historic architectural look. The bonding patterns were carefully documented in photographs and even the original mortar mix, complete with lampblack pigment, will be recreated to ensure that the mortar is not stronger than the relatively soft clinker brick.

Another big piece of the project is modernizing the house's kitchen. Current chef Nancy Jean has been quite happy working in the house, but her frustration with the existing refrigeration and kitchen storage has been mounting. Among the improvements to Nancy's kitchen are a new walk-in refrigerator/freezer, improved ventilation, and a new range hood with a wet chemical fire suppression system. Other house improvements include a basement laundry area, improved electrical distribution, and a remodeled guest bathroom.

Tellefsen Hall Board of Directors President Wade Williams has been spearheading the retrofit effort, making sure the project is coming in on budget and in time for FTP. "This has been the largest and riskiest project ever undertaken by the Corporation in its 41 year history, with final Phase II expenses likely to top $650,000," said Mr. Williams. "Successfully coordinating the efforts of the engineer, architect, banker, and general contractor while cautiously navigating the potentially lengthy Landmarks Preservation Commission hearing process were significant achievements for the Board."

To see pictures and read more about Tellefsen Hall and the seismic retrofit, please visit the Tellefsen Hall Website at www.tellefsenhall.org.

News from Public Relations Director Alex Orquiza...

Cal Band Report

As usual, the Band was in high gear in the Spring. Spring Show, held this year at Napa High School on April 28, kept STUNT and MAC busy with training for the Fall.

The Public Relations Committee kept busy sending two Highsteppers, preparing for the recruiting season, revamping the band's website, and documenting and shooting pictures. The Administrative Committee and Secretary's Committee have been working on budgets, supplies, and communications.

The new Executive Committee has also been conducting increased dialogue with band alumni. James Benton (SM '97) helped current Senior Manager David Wagner with the logistics of staging Spring Show away from Berkeley. Drum Major William McNair has met with Drum Majors Erin Proudfoot ('95), Rob McGuire ('98), and Paul Larimer ('74), and Public Relations Director Alex Orquiza consulted with Sara LaBatt ('95) on a forum for discussion of past and present Cal Band public relations issues.

Bandsmen are still active as usual, both inside and outside of Band. Besides the thirteen acts in Spring Show, bandsmen spent the Spring semester conducting their own De-Cal classes (Renne Mann, Mello), acting in feature films (Sergio Garcia, Trumpet), and competing for the Cal Sailing Team (Sean Callagy, Trumpet). And, of course, there was the usual heavy load of classes!

The band is excited about the upcoming Alumni Band Day, which will kick off the celebration of 50 years of ABDs. We hope to see many of you sharing the field with us on September 8 to make this truly an Alumni Band Day to remember.

Go Bears!
